A good reason to stay Jewish

Farewell from a non-Kahaneist

In response to the recent events in Israel that have raised questions about the political views of our movement, I would like to express my deep concerns.

As a non-Kahaneist, I have always been committed to a just and peaceful solution between Israelis and Palestinians. The recent events have made it clear that we need to urgently address the root causes of the conflict.

We cannot afford to accept a situation where violence and extremism prevail. It is time for all parties to come together and work towards a lasting peace.

I urge all of us to join hands and work towards a better future for our children.
